FUTURE POSSIBILITIES.

The Canadian Pacific Railway as a Factor in Developing our Country.

Northwest Plains and the City of Winnipeg—Our Duty as Citizens.

Mr. Reginald Nuttall, who returned on Friday night from his eastern trip, has favored THE TIMES with the following interesting letter, descriptive of his travels and observations:

THE VASTNESS OF THE ENTERPRISE

which led to the construction of our National highway is only exceeded by the immensity of territory, and variety of resources, through which it passes from ocean to ocean. The character of the greater portion of the work is worthy of the highest praise; and its management, in every respect, deserving of more than ordinary notice. It scarcely matters on what ground the money was raised, whether for Imperial or Colonial purposes, or both, it is certainly on Canadian territory and in the hands of the Canadian people. The scenery in British Columbia cannot be excelled in any part of the world, for there can scarcely be a place where nature has furnished so wild a grandeur, associated with so many varying changes of mountains, chasms, torrents and upland plains, covered with giant firs, looking dark and beautiful beneath snow-clad crags and peaks of flowing heights and majesty. But pleasures of the eye are not the only attractions of our vast and primitive domain. We have land enough to furnish homes for millions of people. We have mineral wealth sufficient for the world's supply. We have rivers and lakes teeming with fish and fowl. Forests full of wild animals and game. A western ocean abounding with life, furnishing an exhaustless supply of skins and oil. Coal and iron deposits of vast extent which will make British Columbia one of the chief industrial and manufacturing centres on the Pacific coast. Hundreds of millions of people on our western frontier are merging into our customs and habits, will furnish a growing market for all we can produce, and exchange with us the peculiar products of their soil. All this I can see in the near future; but to accomplish this a huge task must be undertaken and unswervingly executed.

OUR VIRGIN FORESTS

of timber will soon be needed to supply the demand of treeless tracts of territory. But to be successful we must encourage capital and open Canada to free and fair competition. To run a Chinese wall along the boundary of the United States only excludes American capital and confines our products to a limited market. Each country should stand on its respective merits and make the best use of its advantages. Our laws are equal to those of the States and by many considered to be better administered. Labor is as cheap and as skilful and as plentiful as in the United States. Transportation facilities are equally advantageous. The commercial advantages of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans are equally at our disposal, and money would be as easily obtainable for bona fide enterprises as in the United States if the country possessed an equally extensive market. The chief duty of Canadians is to build up the interests of Canada first, those of the Imperial government afterwards. By this means we should bring American capital in competition with American capital, resulting in the speedy development of the country and prosperity of the people.

RETALIATORY LEGISLATION

is subversive of the interests of neighboring States and flavors of a barbarism begotten of the strongest prejudices. Increased competition would cheapen the price of products and increase their supply whilst a more extended market, in increasing consumption, would stimulate the supply and lessen the cost of production. To limit the sale of British Columbia timber to an Eastern Canadian market, by vexatious duties of either export or import, is simply an absurdity. Whatever products we have in excess of our demand, or of a variety not produced by, or existing in, the United States, should form the basis of an amicable exchange, in order that intersecting and trunk lines of railways might increase the volume of trade and lead to more rapid settlement. Although these sentiments may not be in accord with those of some people, they have been forced into existence by the fact that there are only two entrances into that vast illimitable tract of land known as

but sparsely settled on each frontier, Treating the northern boundaries of populous and thriving territories with as much exclusiveness as the ice-bound frontier of our fertile and extensive prairie land. This ought not to be so, for our destiny should be in common, and not at variance with our neighboring states. From east of Winnipeg to Brandon, and from Medicine Hat to Banff the country cannot be excelled for fertility and settlement. The eye becomes satiated with the vastness of virgin soil awaiting the hands of husbandry to make it yield in abundance all that is required for the subsistence of millions of people. The citizens of Winnipeg may well be proud of their prairie city which promises to be the Chicago of the Northwest and a strong rival of its sisters St. Paul and Minneapolis. There is, however, room for another large city at the base of the Rocky Mountains, and from the burnt will rise a city of great magnitude and power. Favored by nature with a most genial climate and a rich rolling grass country, thousands of miles in extent; with vast deposits of coal of superior quality and adjacent to the mineral regions of the Rockies, it cannot fail to become the centre of large developments of a varied character. In this way we are led to conceive the immense advantages likely to accrue to us from these treeless tracts, so dependent on our forests, for the building of homes and other requirements. But we must keep space with this primitive territory and encourage capital to erect mills, so that our forest products can be exchanged for bread and our fish and oil for other things which we do not produce.

OUR INLAND VALLEYS

must be opened up by trails so that adventurous prospectors can swarm the mountain heights after mineral wealth. Liberal inducements offered to the successful as an encouragement for their perseverance and daring. To sit on a perch in British Columbia and sing of the natural beauties it possesses, and of its wonderful variety of resources, is becoming monotonous. We must let others know it and there is no better way of doing it than by giving leading capitalists better chances than they can get elsewhere. For whatever they pay for they are bound to develope, and in doing so will require labor, and a general demand for labor will be the best advertisement we can have likely to be of general benefit to the country. To stand still in our work, is to retrogress. To be inactive whilst other states are active is a crime of a serious nature. Envy and jealousy must give place to unity and progression, and the fear of borrowing money be overcome by the desire of obtaining it—so long as it is expended on something reproductive. It is useless building a national highway unless we can utilize it for development. The road was not built for glory although it is a glorious undertaking and redounds to the credit and indomitable pluck of Canadians. It is built for trade purposes, and with a view of assisting us to be on the same productive and prosperous basis as older provinces, throwing the responsibility of development on ourselves in a manner worthy of the race from which we sprung and the national greatness to which we aspire. As a citizen of this young and mighty empire of the future I have always fostered convictions of its future in harmony with the best interest of the people, and to-day, in common with my fellow countrymen, feel proud of the genius and energy evinced by the promoters of one of the most gigantic enterprises ever undertaken by the intelligence of man, and one brought to as successful an issue as could be contemplated by its most enthusiastic admirers.

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN

THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES

there exists a warm feeling of admiration for the work so nobly consummated, and a still higher appreciation for the pluck, skill and energy displayed in the undertaking, and in a manner as worthy of the kindred gifts of the Anglo-Saxon race; first in peace, war, and all the fundamental principles of enlightenment, which shed light and liberty on the world. Next year, and every succeeding one, will see our country advance step by step into that condition of industrial greatness for which it is so eminently adapted. One by one lesser evils will disappear from our political horizon as the people become more thoroughly acquainted with the character of remedies to apply, which will deal justly with all classes, until finally contentment and prosperity will go hand in hand with the inestimable blessings of true liberty, which it is our good fortune to enjoy. In another letter I will add a few references to Eastern Canada and the growing importance of Toronto—the Queen City of the Dominion—one of the most moral, progressive and intellectual cities on the American continent.

RAISING THE BARNARD CASTLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The action of the underwriters' agent in telegraphing to San Francisco for Captain Whitelaw to come here and attempt to raise the Barnard Castle is paying a very poor compliment to the capabilities of British Columbians in that direction; unless it is a fact that there is no wrecking plant in Victoria of any use for such a job. But is that so? When Captain Whitelaw tendered for raising the Umatilla, he did so with the intention of lifting her by main strength and went to the navy yard to ascertain the amount of chain he could rely on for the purpose. When, however, Captain Chisholm appeared on the scene he compelled Capt. Whitelaw to abandon his barbarous method and adopt the plan of building up her bulwarks, stopping up the hole from the inside, and pumping out. Now the only wrecking plant required for this purpose was divers, steam boilers and pumps; all of which are available right here, and if the men cannot be found right here too, who have not sufficient engineering ability to do such a every day job as floating a stranded steamer, why then it is high time we imported some. In the present hands, when the bill is footed up, if it does not astonish the underwriters, I shall be astonished myself. My object in writing is not to find fault with anybody for minding their own business and doing their best according to their rights for the parties they represent, but to suggest that it is both unpatriotic and unwise to send for a person who, although of our own kith and kin, is practically a foreigner, to do what we are quite as capable of doing ourselves, with the material at our own doors. If the boot were on the other leg, that is, if the ship were American and stranded in American waters, do you think they would send here for people to do the work? Not much! They would let her rot where she lay first. Yours, truly,

VICTORIA.

TRAINED NURSES FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Owing to the recent prevalence of typhoid fever in this city, attention has frequently been drawn to the necessity of having experienced nurses among us. In England in almost every town of the size and importance of Victoria there exists a sisterhood of nurses. These ladies who, as a rule have private incomes, commence a course of study at some large hospital, where, in the first place they are received as "probationers," where they attend the surgical operations and see every possible form of disease, the cause and effect being minutely explained to them by the medical professors. The sisters, after passing three examinations, receive their government diplomas as nurses, and then are permitted to attend any sick person, rich or poor, who may require them. There is at present one of these sisters of the Red Cross in the city, who, for fifteen years past, has worked in many of the largest hospitals in Great Britain, and who could perhaps induce half a dozen trained nurses to come out here, where, I am sure, they are sadly needed. Our medical men have always had to work at a disadvantage, owing to the want of skilled nurses, and I am sure they will heartily co-operate with the numberless ladies who are now expressing their eagerness to assist in forming a society, whose object will be the better nursing of those of our fellow creatures who may be stricken down with disease.

DILLON'S TRIAL.

DUBLIN, Nov. 30.—The case of the government against John Dillon came up for hearing to-day before the Court of Queen's Bench. Dillon appeared, accompanied by Lord Mayor Sullivan and Messrs. Healy and Sexton. Great crowds surrounded the building and the Court room was packed. Dillon was greeted with tremendous cheers when he arrived, and he passed into court amid enthusiastic applause. Healy, on behalf of Dillon applied for an adjournment of the hearing. He said he had only been instructed as to the nature of the complaint last night, and as the Crown's affidavits were exceedingly voluminous the defence would require time to properly study them. The counsel for the government made no opposition and the hearing was adjourned to Dec. 11th.

WOULDN'T FIGHT.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Knifton, who was to have fought a prize fight with bare knuckles to a finish with Jim Smith in Paris to-day, for the heavy weight championship of England and heavy stakes, backed out at the last moment, and refused to go to the battle ground. The men have been in active and close training for several weeks and the interest taken in the event was widespread and intense. The amount of money up in wagers was large. Last evening all the preliminaries having been satisfactorily arranged, a train-load of prominent sports and aristocrats went to Paris to witness the battle. Only one reason Knifton gave for his conduct. He found the number of Smith's adherents who would attend the fight was so much greater than the number of his own friends that he feared he would be unable to sustain fair play, and so concluded to abandon the contract, which he felt convinced would be hopeless under the circumstances.

His services will be required in Ireland only while the department is being re-organized. The Under-Secretary will in future occupy a seat in the Commons.

SURREY NOTES.

A Progressive Locality—New Settlers Pouring in from the Northern States and Ontario—A New Municipality.

(From our own Correspondent.)

CLOVER VALLEY, Nov. 26.—During the past summer affairs south of the Fraser river have been progressing very favorably. I suppose I should call it the "classic" Fraser but that epithet has a very pronounced "nutty" flavor, so I shall carefully eschew it. Many new settlers have come in and settled amongst us, especially in those districts in which the government land is to be had. The old settlers have shown a very commendable spirit in making every effort to enlarge their clearings, and all feel satisfied with the products of their labor. A little dissatisfaction is felt by those interested in the slow progress of the negotiations between the Provincial and Federal Governments, as those settled on the disputed lands are unable to get any pre-emption papers. These are the lands taken up from the local government under the act of 1876, and afterwards abandoned.

Surrey is having her modicum of prosperity along with the rest. A great number of new settlers having stopped within her boundaries. They are from Dakota, Wisconsin, Ontario, Quebec, and other eastern points. Quite an inroad has been made from Wisconsin coming west to escape those terrible winters, the blizzards and the cyclones. We have three stores doing quite a business; four hotels, and two sloops plying between Mud Bay, Victoria and other ports. Three logging camps, kept steadily at work in different parts, all combining to make this "Surry of ours" no inconsiderable portion of the district. Vancouver vs. Port Moody troubles us not, as it is just as convenient to ship to Victoria as it is to go to Vancouver.

Some people back of the settlement of Hall's Prairie are attempting to get a new municipality set off to the south of Langley and east of Surrey. We think, however, that the present benefits would not be sufficient to offset the inconvenience of a number of petty municipalities. The present ones are none too large, especially in the matter of population.

Kensington Prairie is striving hard for a school. This is something very badly needed. At present two little girls walk no less than four miles each way to Clover Valley school, and that over a very bad road. Let us not say that English blood is degenerating.

Election news are nil. Several would-be candidates were around canvassing, but on account of the non-appearance of the writ they have slackened in the pursuit of parliamentary honors. Mr. Donald Chisholm seems to be the favorite, but his having been engaged in the liquor business with some, tells heavily against him; while Mr. McGillivray is handicapped by being put up by the Columbian coterie.

The steamer Skidegate, from New Westminster, while into Mud Bay lately after a boom of logs from W. C. McDougall's logging camp, broke her propeller and had to go away for repairs.

LONDON'S SCANDAL.

Continuation of the Address of Counsel for the Defence—Witnesses Called.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—To allow allegation to be contested, Finlay resuming, said that all of the plaintiff's allegations in her petition were false and had been made to intimidate and had since been withdrawn, except on a charge the truth and falsity of which could be known only to Lady Campbell herself. The defence, however, had evidence that would shed a flood of light upon Lord Colin's proceedings in Paris. Allowance must be made, counsel contended, for Lord Colin's action in asking the Paris police to arrest his wife and lock her up, because at that time defendant believed his wife was living there in adultery with the Duke of Marlborough. Four persons, Finlay went on, were accused of having been criminally intimate with Lady Campbell. Lady Campbell's maid would be called and would prove that on more than one occasion while plaintiff was living alone her couch at Leigh Court was occupied by more than one person. A servant and two independent witnesses would testify that plaintiff was guilty of infidelity at the Purfleet hotel. Dr. Bird and Lady Campbell were at at one time constantly together It would also be shown that when Dr. Bird visited Lady Campbell professionally he would remain for hours at her bedside in a darkened room. Finlay said Lady Campbell met Chief Shaw of the Fire Brigade, in an unfurnished drawing room in Cadogan Place in 1881 and remained with him an hour, and during 1882 was with him alone in the dining room under conditions which would convince the jury that the plaintiff and Chief Shaw were wrong doing. Lady Campbell had written to the Duke of Marlborough as "Dear George," he had taken her home at two in the morning, gone up stairs with her and remained with her 20 minutes. The evidence connecting Lady Campbell with General Butler was largely referred to and the length of time he remained when he called upon plaintiff. Two shameless women had concocted a story of Lord Colin's criminal intimacy with his wife's maid, Mary Watson. The defense would produce two surgeons who would swear that Mary Watson was virgo intacta, and that therefore it was impossible that defendant could have been guilty of adultery with her. At this point Mr. Finlay denounced with great excitement and passion what he called "the infamous fraud and perjury and shameless conduct of Lady Miles and Lady Colin Campbell." He accused Lady Miles of prostituting her prayer book by inserting therein dates of Lord Colin's alleged wrong doings for the purpose of accumulating evidence upon which to found the present suit.

FOR THE DEFENCE.

Two physicians were called. Both testified they had examined Mary Watson and found her pure; neither, however, in cross-examination, could swear that an attempt to assault the girl had not been made.

Mary Watson herself was then sworn. She testified that she was housemaid for Lord Colin Campbell from 1881 till 1883. She denied all of Lady Miles testimony concerning the alleged intimacy between witness and Lord Colin. Lady Colin's maid used to post letters for her mistress and witness often saw the names of the Duke of Marlborough and Chief Shaw on the envelopes. When the Duke of Marlborough called he used to ring the servant's bell. Witness once showed the duke into the dining room when he called, because her mistress was with Lord Colin in his bedroom. Witness went up and called Lady Colin out, saying the cook wanted to see her. When Lady Colin came out witness told her it was the duke and not the cook, and Lady Colin said: "Thank you Mary." Lady Colin, witness continued, used to receive Capt. Shaw alone. Dr. Bird on one occasion took tea with Lady Colin before going with her to a concert. When the carriage arrived witness went to announce it to Lady Colin, she and Dr. Bird had gone into Lady Colin's bedroom. Lady Colin came to the door saying as she did so, "Keep your hand on that dose, doctor."

Cross-examined, witness said she saw no dose when Dr. Bird received the injunction to keep his hand on the dose. When asked if she ever saw any impropriety on the part of Lady Colin witness replied that she never had. Witness admitted having written letters to Lord Colin, but asserted that she had never signed them, "Your affectionate Mary," but simply "Mary."

LADY CAMPBELL.

The plaintiff in this case is an American. She was a Miss Blood prior to her marriage. She is described as a tall, graceful and beautiful brunette, whose loveliness is enhanced by her extreme pallor, the result of the recent mental strain to which she has been subjected. During the trial she was dressed in a plaid costume of blue ground with large yellow squares, tight-fitting jacket trimmed with fur, and a dark blue hat with very little trimming. "The time for delicacy in this matter," the lady said to a press representative, "has passed; the truth must now come out. There is not an atom of truth in the charges my husband brings against me. It is my turn now and I will make an exhibition of him more pitiable and more contemptible than any has been witnessed in an English court in many years.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS.

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—The annual report on the state of Berlin has been presented to the Reichstag. It describes the Socialist movement among the workmen as still lively, and tending more and more in a radical and extreme direction, which gives it very provocative character. Hamburg and Altona are the chief centres of the movement.

APOSTASIZED.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Cardinal Manning to-day ordained as a Roman Catholic priest, Lord Chas. Thinne, aged 73 years, formerly a canon in the established church.

HASTING'S SAW MILL.

It is reported that a sale of this valuable property has been made to a syndicate of English capitalists for a considerable sum. It is also asserted that the capacity of the mill will be greatly enlarged. This property formed part of the estate purchased by a local syndicate in 1884 at a sum said to be about $275,000, from Messrs. Heathley & Co., San Francisco. The mill has been operated since then on account of parties who leased it. The owners of the property being thus relieved of the mill and the site, will apply the proceeds of the sale in improving the real estate, which embraces a large tract of land in the vicinity of the mill.

AMERICAN HAPPENINGS

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—An Ottawa special says: It is said in well informed circles that Sanford Fleming's scheme of a Pacific-Australian cable will at once assume tangible form and that a company to carry out the work will be incorporated during the coming session of parliament. Among those mentioned as directors and heavy shareholders are Sir Geo. Stephen, Sir John Macdonald, Sir D. Smith, Erastus Wiman, Sanford Fleming, and leading English financiers. Capital stock is to be fixed at $10,000,000. It is proposed to raise $5,000,000 in 5 per cent. shares, and $5,000,000 in 3 per cents. The stock, secured by an imperial colonial guarantee, is divided as follows: Canada, $75,000; Australia, $175,000, and Great Britain $250,000. It is proposed to give a rate from London to Vancouver Island of 12 cents per word, and four shillings per word from England to Australia, the press rate to be one-fourth of the regular rate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Advices from New Zealand state a company has been organized to construct a Pacific cable to cost ten million dollars as follows: From Brisbane or some port in New South Wales, to North Cape, New Zealand, 1,300 knots; to Fiji Island, 1,240 knots; to Fanning Island, 2,270 knots; to the Sandwich Islands, 1,260 knots; to Vancouver Island, 2,730 knots; across the island and the straits of Georgia to the mainland, 100 knots. The annual subsidy of half a million dollars is expected to be obtained from the Colonial and Imperial governments jointly.

HEAVY FAILURE.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30.—Shipley, Dorsy & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers, who recently obtained an extension from their creditors, to-day assigned to S. W. Talum, whose bond is fixed at $400,000. Murray Shipley, the senior member of the firm, also made an individual assignment, giving up all his property. The bond of his assignee is $50,000. A statement of the assets and liabilities is not made up, but rumors current say the assets will pay 25 to 33 per cent. of the debts. There are no preference claims. The firm is one of the largest in the city and hitherto has been regarded one of the strongest.

TOWN ON FIRE.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30.—At midnight last night chief O'Connor received a message from Bay, St. Louis, stating that the town was on fire and requesting two engines to be sent there. At 1:20 a. m. another message was received saying the fire was under control. No particulars have yet been received.

The fire last night destroyed a private residence, the Stockton hotel and other buildings. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

ST. LOUIS MURDERERS.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—The stay of execution granted in the case of W. H. Maxwell, Preller's murderer, and the Chinese highbinder under sentence to be hanged on January 14, till February 1st was in order that a transcript of the cases may be furnished before an appeal is taken.

STILL HOLDS THE TRUMP CARD.

From all that can be learned of the conference of Mr. GLADSTONE'S followers recently held in Leeds, it is evident that they were undismayed by the sly tactics of Lord CHURCHILL, who had just succeeded in forcing the Conservatives at the Bradford gathering to gulp most of the reforms which had previously formed the shibboleth of the Liberal party. There still remained, however, certain propositions, which British Radicals have looked upon with favor, and hitherto deemed unworthy the countenance or consideration of the Tories. One of these is the urgent demand made in certain quarters for the disestablishment of state church in Wales, and it is to this measure the GLADSTONIANS intend to devote attention and to play as their trump card in the approaching session of the Imperial parliament. A contemporary is of the belief that "this movement may undoubtedly be justified by cogent argument and recent precedent. The members of the Anglican communion represent a much smaller fraction of the popula tion in the Welsh principality than they did or do in the kingdom of Ireland. The Protestant Dissenters have an even stronger claim to regard themselves as the bulk of the Welsh people, than the Irish Catholics had in 1868 to challenge the deference due to numerical preponderance. Every reason given for extinguishing the official character, and confiscating the endowments of the English Church in Ireland, is applicable with much greater force to the suppression of the Anglican Establishment in Wales. The opponents of the proposal must fall back on arguments which have already been discredited by defeat in Parliament and pronounced invalid on an appeal to the constituencies. Nevertheless, resistance will be offered by a majority of the Anglican clergy and laymen throughout Great Britain, because they will instinctively perceive, what, indeed, is true enough, that the destruction of the outworks in Ireland and Wales is only preliminary to an assault upon the Established Church in England itself. Still, a good many Englishmen belonging to the Anglican communion, and especially those of so-called Low Church proclivities, will feel themselves placed in an awkward dilemma by the inquiry which is certain to be pressed on them: "Would you have Parliament refuse to your Protestant brethren, who happen to be Non Conformists, what it has yielded to the Catholics?" It will be the harder for them to make this invidious distinction, because Mr. GLADSTONE evidently means to manage this campaign with the same adroitness which marked that of 1868—insisting that the speakers and journals of his party shall carefully distinguish between the case of Wales, where Anglicans form only a trivial minority, from the case of England, where they claim to have a considerable majority. But, while Gladstonians will aim to repeat the strategy of eighteen years ago, and win over or neutralize the Low Church element of the Anglican communion, the fact that the Tory government must needs, in order to retain the mass of its adherents, set its face against the movement, may array on Mr. GLADSTONE'S side the whole weight of the Non-Conformist body in Great Britain. It was by no means so arrayed in the last election. Had it been so, the Gladstonians would have carried many more seats in Scotland, in Lancashire and Yorkshire, in the metro politan districts to which we give the collective name of London, and even in Birmingham. It is, in truth, very doubtful whether Mr. CHAMBERLAIN could keep his grasp on his constituents, most of whom are Dissenters, in a contest certain to inflame their sectarian jealousies. Mr. GLADSTONE will, in brief, endeavor to overthrow Lord SALISBURY by a flank movement analogous to that which in 1868 proved fatal to Mr. DISRAELI. It was, apparently, this scheme of Welsh disestablishment which one of the shrewdest of his enemies had in mind when he expressed misgivings touching the duration of the Tory triumph, and opined that the Grand Old Man still had a trump card up his sleeve.

A JAPANESE Prince with his wife and party are making a tour of the United States. On reaching Washington he was lionized by society people in the capital. The Prince is a relative of the MIKADO. Unlike most of the members of the Japanese legation there, he is a fine physical specimen of the almond-eyed race. The party including the Princess, wear the European dress, the latter appearing in it for the first time here. She does not look entirely comfortable in it, but not so with the Prince and grand chamberlain. They even wear our conventional evening dress with ease and grace. They are in love with Washington and say it is the ideal city. Its broad avenues and well paved streets, with the pretty gardens dotting it, make it by far the most beautiful city in the world. They would even be happy to live here, and that is high praise from them. They were enthusiastic over Niagara Falls, too, and thought that sight alone was worth all the sea-sickness and inconvenience that such a long trip entails. At Salt Lake City they made a short rest, expressing their surprise that such an institution should attain the power it has, and that there seems to be no remedy for it; they declared that such a monstrous evil would be exterminated from Japan at all hazards. The ladies of the party were amused by the question put to them by a number of Mormon women: "How many wives has the Prince?" etc.

A SUSPICIOUS STAY.

Australian journals are beginning to protest vigorously against the suspiciously long visit which the French are making in the New Hebrides. In New Caledonia there are now over 15,000 convicts and ticket-of-leave men, and the military on this island declare that should a general rebellion be started they would not be able to successfully cope with it. Still the home government has officially announced that several thousand more will soon be sent out. But the Australians do not believe that all those French rascals are intended for Caledonia. Those who have recently visited this colony say that it will be impossible to accommodate any more, and the officials openly admit that the new lot of forced emigrants is probably intended for the Hebrides group, now "temporarily" occupied by French soldiers. On one of these islands a multitude of natives has been employed constructing immense sheds, under the direction of French officers, so that from all evidence at hand we must conclude it is the deliberate intention of France to establish a penal colony on the New Hebrides. The fact that French ministers have again and again declared that the occupation was only to last for a short time counts for nothing whatever. The statements and actions of this nation are not apt to exhibit a high degree of harmony, and it seems to be the present foreign policy of the republic to take everything it can get without much regard to right or wrong. It will be remembered that France secured the island of Raiatia by exactly the same tactics which are now being employed in the New Hebrides. Our Australian brethren state with unmistakable emphasis that if these valuable possessions, which they regard as part of the British empire, are lost by the craftiness of France and the carelessness of England, it will be a national duty to regain them by force. From all of this it would seem that steps should immediately be taken to find out exactly what France is up to. She should also be compelled to name the date when her forces will be wholly withdrawn from the islands, whose development and civilization would thus be left in the hands of our countrymen, from whose efforts the people of this delectable region have already received many benefits.

THE Zanzibar Arabs, in their long white garments, who, Dr. LENZ, the Austrian traveler, says, make Stanley Falls Station, in Central Africa, look like a village of the Zanzibar coast, have thrown off their mask of friendship and compelled King LEOPOLD'S white agents to abandon the station and retreat down the river. Dr. LENZ wrote early this year that these slave dealers had far more influence at Stanley Falls than the Congo white men wielded. Here, in the heart of King LEOPOLD'S territories, they have at last openly manifested their hostility to the advancing white influences that are threatening their supremacy of Central Africa. It was these gentry whom Gen. GORDON was employed to deal with just before fate changed his plans and sent him to Khartoum instead of the Congo. How to manage these powerful Arabs will henceforth be a puzzling question. Meanwhile the advance guard of civilization has met its Bull Run and retreated down the river before the triumphant slave dealers.

THE Toronto Globe states that the name of the Rev. Dr. BURNS, an able and eloquent divine in the Wesleyan Methodist body, in Hamilton, has been widely mentioned as a probable candidate for the Dominion Parliament at the coming election. Dr. BURNS would be an able, independent, liberal, and popular candidate. He would be sure to be elected, and a man of his ability and moral calibre would be a valuable addition to the House of Commons. No doubt it would be, in some respects, a sacrifice on the part of Dr. BURNS to have anything to do with politics; but the country wants public men who are willing to make sacrifices from patriotic motives. Some good people would probably think it a grave error for a minister to enter political life. That might be true if it implied ceasing to preach the gospel, but Dr. BURNS would be as free to preach as ever. Not only ministers, but all Christain men are called to consecrate themselves to work for the well-being of their fellow men. All true work is sacred work.

THE phenomenal success of the New York World, observes a contemporary, has not induced JAMES GORDON BENNETT to burn his boats, but it has constrained him to sell his yacht, with the presumable intention of taking off his coat and employing the master's eye to make faithful servants. When the canny Scot whose industry—and other more questionable methods—made the Herald the greatest newspaper property upon the continent died he left JAMES GORDON in a position that any man might envy. BENNETT the second thought he could do as he liked, and proceeded to do it. The STANLEY-LIVINGSTONE stroke was brilliant enough to be worthy of his wealth, but he subsequently spoiled it all through personal neglect. A brainy young man from the Southwest stepped in and the Herald stepped out from its long-established position as the premier paper of America. JAMES GORDON BENNETT, jr., is no longer young, but he has discovered, comparatively late in life, that no amount of inherited wealth can render a newspaper proprietor independent of public opinion. In fact the richer a newspaper proprietor gets the more careful he requires to be in soliciting what SHAKESPEARE terms "your most sweet voices."

MISCHIEF CAUSED BY A WATCH.

A Cheap Affair in the First Place—A Maze of Disappointment.

"Ever see anything funny in the course of my business? Certainly I do," said a jeweler to a reporter. "See lots of fun sometimes, and, by the way, your question reminds me of the fellow who was in here half an hour ago. He has a watch—there it hangs now—that is more trouble to him than all his brains, though I don't mean to say that he is a fool. The most foolish thing that I know of him is that he will persist in carrying that watch. Well, as I was about to say, that self-same ticker of his comes to me not less than once a month regularly.

"I remember very well the first time he brought it. It was one Tuesday morning, and as he had known me for some time before that, he stopped to tell of his troubles. The watch, he said, hung on a nail in his room on Sunday evening, ticking away for dear life. He was very much interested in a book which he was reading, so much absorbed, in fact, that though he looked at the watch every two minutes to see if it was time to go see his best girl yet, he did not notice that the hands had stopped moving. At last he heard the clock striking and, mechanically counting the strokes, found that it was 9 o'clock. The watch only said 7:30, and as it was a case of 8 o'clock or not at all, he tried hard to devote the remainder of the evening to his book, which had suddenly grown uninteresting.

"The next day he shook the timepiece up, got it to going in fine style, called on his lady love in the morning, explained the cause of his failure to keep his appointment, and soothed her sensibilities by arranging to take her to the opera at night. When evening came he made sure that the watch-hands were walking around the watch-face at the usual rate, and again took up his book. Half-past 6, 7, and half-past 7—it was time to go now. He put the ticker in his pocket, his coat on his back, and left the hotel. When he reached — Walnut street he rang the bell, walked in, and asked for Miss —— with the greatest assurance.

"Gone out! It was impossible.

"But he was told she did go at 8:30 with Mr. ——. Half-past 8! He was thunderstruck again, but a glance at the clock on the parlor mantel assured him that it was then nearly 9 o'clock, and he left in a maze of disappointment. The watch had stopped some time during the day started again according to its own sweet will, and was an hour or so behind time.

"Since that time he has married another girl, and is not yet on speaking terms with the one that his watch got him left with. Nearly every time he comes he tells of how he missed an appointment or a train or something of the kind the day before. I have frequently told him that the watch was a cheap affair in the first place, and it is not worth repairs now, as it can not be made to keep time by the best jeweler in the land, but he always says it will have to do a little longer. Just for the curiosity of the thing I looked over my books the last time he was here to see how much he had paid me for putting it in order, and it was just $32. I sell a very fair watch for $30 nowadays."—Harrisburg Patriot.

Henceforth Sacred to the Sight.

In Mrs. X's handsome parlors were many works of cunning and art. But neglected and alone in a dark corner stood a modest vase. It was not a comely vase at its best, and it showed abuse and neglect, and it seemed to feel its insignificance, and when anybody came near, it sort of contracted itself and threw out dust as the porcupine hurls his quills. But one day a connoisseur stepped into a dark corner. "What have you here?" quoth he. "O, don't look at that sickly thing," said the sagacious Mrs. X. "Sickly thing?" replied the connoisseur, Why, madam, you have a splendid piece of Dresden in this vase." And the lady gave a cry of joyous surprise, and she pounced upon that model vase, and rubbed it tenderly with a $4 handkerchief and bore it out of the gloom and placed it conspicuously on the piano, henceforth to be sacred to the sight and to the flowers that bloom in the spring tra-la.—Kansas City Times.

"Whipping Up Tired Nature."

There is a whipping up of tired nature going on that ought to come under the notice of some society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. The lash is being applied in this way, to take a common instance, in your very house. Your husband did not sleep any last night, thinking of his business entanglements. You prepare him two cups of strong black coffee, which he pours down for breakfast, unable to eat anything with it. No doubt while the stimulus lasts he carried through an immense amount of work in a savage manner. It passes for pure grit by the on-lookers. Perhaps it may be; but there is another kind of grit that we like quite as well—the patient, steady following one's conscience. And your doses of strong tea that enables you to get through the house cleaning, or the fall sewing, is another whip—long and cruel. The society should have its hands on you both instanter.—Good Housekeeping.

An Accomplished Horsewoman's Daring.

I have seen Miss Kate Bayard start out in the dim light of a winter's morning, seen her ride all day with the foremost hunters, and seen her clearing every barrier, dashing down narrow cuts and up steepest ascents, over thickets, through underbrush and plowed fields. A more intrepid rider never followed the hounds. She never flinched, despite nearsightedness, which made her courage and horsemanship more remarkable. I have known her to return after a day of continuous hard riding only in time to doff her habit and don a ball dress to dance all night, shining also in the "maze of gaze de Chambery and the hum of the smallest of talk."—Washington Letter.

Some Girls Who Can Shoot.

For a number of years on the continent of Europe and in England and Scotland it has not been an uncommon thing to see ladies take the shooting field. In the Black Forest in Germany ladies assist at the battues. Lady Abinger, who was a Miss Magruder, niece of Gen. Magruder, of Confederate army fame, always took part in the opening of the grouse season, on her moor at Banivie, Scotland. She was an admirable shot and an untiring walker. In this country until recently only a limited number of ladies, and these southerners, ever took up a breech-loader, and this was usually preliminary to a breach of promise suit.—Baltimore American.

The Ship Belvidere Ashore at Bonilla Point, on V. I.

Mr. R. Dunsmuir received a telegram this morning from Neah Bay informing him that the ship Belvidere, Capt. Gibson, was ashore at Bonilla Point, on Vancouver Island, and would probably prove a total loss. The Belvidere is owned by Mr. Nelson, of Goodall, Perkins & Co., San Francisco, and has been under charter to Dunsmuir & Son for many years. She is a wooden ship, carries 2100 tons of coal, and was on her way from Wilmington, Cal., to Departure Bay to load for San Pedro. Capt. Gibson asked for assistance, and the Alexander left for the wreck at 1 o'clock. Bonilla Point is below Port San Juan, on Vancouver Island, and opposite Neah Bay.

THE M'GIBENY FAMILY.

The McGibeny family were cordially received by a full house last night, and those present were not disappointed. The family of fifteen is certainly a remarkable one, as well in musical attainments as numerically, and when the curtain went up and revealed all the members, from pater-familias to the little chick of three or four officiating as leader, all handsomely dressed, the good-will of the auditory was captured on the spot. The accomplishments of the unique combination are so evenly divided that it would be impossible to discriminate, but possibly the parts that afforded the highest gratifications were those sustained by the infantile and very young members, such as the Kindergarten song, "What we do." The best instrumental contributions were undoubtedly given by Mr. Frank, whose cornet solos, "The Favorite" and "Swanee River" were fine, assisted by Mrs. Frank, who seemed equally at home on the organ, piano or silver horn, his gentleman also gave a duet on this instrument, which was equally as well appreciated and was loudly encored, as indeed was almost every appearance during the evening. The duet, between Mrs. McGibeny and little Leo, "Where is my Little One," was a sweet and pleasing song; while the anvil chorus and the "Sleigh Ride" by the whole family, "The Bridge of Sighs," a quartette, or "The Quarrel and Reconciliation," a character sketch by Florence and Grace, were in themselves worth the whole price of admission. The family is an instrumental rather than a vocal one, and yet it possesses so much talent in the latter respect that it might increase its vocal contributions without thereby deteriorating the programme. They are all artists, and as a family combination are alone and unrivalled. To-night will be their last appearance, when there will be an entire change of programme.

FREE TRADE.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefitted the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Boschee's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The August Flower for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the German Syrup for Cough and Lung troubles, have perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cents remain the same size. *

THE SMUGGLERS.

The smugglers were fined $50 each, but as the law does not authorize their commitment in default of payment, they again breathe the air of freedom, and are snapping their fingers at its decrees. For the defence in this case Mr. Willis Bond, the latest acquisition to the bar, succeeded in confusing the court, the clerk, the witnesses and himself, and was told at the close that he would not again be permitted to address that court in the capacity of a pleader. We do not know that Mr. Johnson has the power to close Mr. Bond's mouth thus summarily, but admitting that he has it would, we think, be an impolitic thing to do. Mr. Bond will carry the matter before a Supreme Court judge.

FAITH IN IT.

The small assessments of one cent per share on the stock of the B. C. Mining and Milling Company are being paid with promptitude by the stockholders. The delinquents amount to a mere nothing, and are principally stockholders who are absent from the country. There is great faith in the enterprise by those interested and in a short time active operations will be commenced.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

At the Colonial Exhibition—An Exceedingly Creditable Display—Numerous Inquirers.

The London Canadian Gazette has forwarded advance proof sheets of its issue of the 11th November, from which we take the following extract relative to this province and the exhibits sent to the Colonial. Each province is treated upon under respective headings. Of the writer says, the mineral, fishery, and timber resources of British Columbia have been prominently brought forward in the course of the exhibition. In this province, as in Nova Scotia, there are large deposits of iron, coal, and limestone in proximity to one another. Fine specimens of all these are on exhibition. Two immense blocks of coal from this province are conspicuous features in the Mineral Court. The province also produces a great deal of gold, many specimens of which are to be seen, as well as a large gilt pyramid, standing opposite to that above mentioned from Nova Scotia, and representing the volume of gold raised in British Columbia during the past twenty-five years. In the Fishery Court much interest has also been aroused in the immense

of Canada's waters on the Pacific, and should the present tests of refrigerator system for the conveyance of fresh fish prove a success, there can be no question as to the extensive market to be found here for the salmon and other fish for which the province is already famous. The tinned fish exhibits from the province have also represented an important industry which shows signs of a healthy extension. Much has also been done to demonstrate the field for a enterprise in the development of the immense forest wealth of the province. The woods both in their plain and manufactured state have elicited high commendation, and it may reasonably be hoped that some practical results will follow the efforts made. The agricultural exhibits have also attracted a great deal of attention to that portion of the Dominion now being fairly opened up by the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the shores of the Pacific. The result of the numerous inquiries about this province point to a large accession to its population at an early date, while there are indications that the opportunities for the

there will be availed of by those in search of such direct means of profit. Much attention has also been attracted to the very rich gold and silver ores from the province, now rendered much more easy of access by the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and companies are, we learn, being organised to work several of the deposits. The committee appointed by the Iron and Steel Institute to report on the Iron-making Resources of the British Colonies, have analysed several of the iron ores from this Province, and in their report have especially emphasised the great facilities possessed by the province for the production of iron and steel, owing to the close proximity of the ore, fuel and flux. Companies have been and are being organised for the smelting of the ores at an early date. The mines, the fisheries, and the forests of British Columbia unquestionably offer splendid opportunities for enterprising men, and the effect of the exhibit has been to draw marked attention to these facts. Men of moderate means seeking a mild climate have also been greatly attracted to this portion of the Dominion; and numbers of such are already arranging to make British Columbia their future home. The samples of cereals shown prove that the province owns excellent farming lands, which will, no doubt, be readily taken up by farmers of some means, to whose families the climate has such attractions.

THE YALE FIRE.

Our citizens were aroused from their peaceful slumbers on Friday morning last, about 2 a. m., by the ringing of the fire bell. Then there was hurrying to and fro in hot haste to the scene of the conflagration. It was found that a vacant store on Front street, recently occupied by Mr. Powers and brother, was on fire, but as the wind was from the west, and a vacant lot and a wide street intervened between the fire and any other buildings to the east, no very serious danger was anticipated. It was soon discovered, however, that the California Hotel, of which Mr. Tuttle is proprietor, was on fire, and then the citizens were alarmed for the safety of the whole town. The hose and hand engine were hurried to the spot, but could not be operated. Mr. McQuarrie's shoe shop, adjoining the hotel, soon caught fire, and now ready hands and brave hearts worked with a will to save life and property. The watch and jewelery shop of Mr. Fraser adjoining was torn down, which, with the strong stone wall of the shoe shop succeeded in robbing the devouring element of further fuel and the conflagration ceased. The jail and court house, to the north, at one time were thought to be on fire, and there is no doubt had there been a strong wind the most of the town would have gone as the fire originated in about the centre of the town and nothing could be done to extinguish the flames. The town extends about half a mile on each side, east and west, and a couple of streets in width to the north from where the fire occurred. The river lies to the south. An investigation was held on Saturday before Mr. Wise, but no information could be ascertained as to the cause of the fire, only that it must have been the work of an incendiary, as the room where the fire was first seen by Mr. Powers, the manager of the California House, had not been occupied since September, 1885. Mr. Tuttle's loss is mostly covered by insurance, but Mr. McQuarrie's loss will be severely felt, as he had no insurance and has a large family dependent upon him for support. It was ascertained next day that another fire had been started in another part of the town about the same time, but was not a success. Further developments may be looked for. X.

AN EXCELLENT ROUTE.

Discussing the proposed Southern Railway through New Westminster district to the boundary line, the Whatcom Reveille says: Bellingham Bay is not dead sure of getting the railroad connecting Seattle with the Canadian Pacific. There is an excellent route from Yale or New Westminster direct to Seattle via the Sumas up the South Fork of the Nooksack to Samish, thence south to Seattle. This would leave the town of Whatcom a dozen miles from a railroad. As Seattle does not want to see a rival town on Bellingham Bay, she favors this scheme. A railroad seldom hunts up a small town to make it a city where commercial or other inducements are not offered.

It is expected that the C. P. R. bridge at Lachine will be completed by the 20th inst.

Toll-gates cost the farmers in Frontenac $15,000 a year. Active measures to abolish the nuisance are being taken by the Kingston Board of Trade.

Capt. Urquhart, on behalf of the Underwriters, is calling for tenders for the removal of coal from the Barnard Castle to this city. The Underwriters will pay the insurance and take the vessel and cargo.

IN a recent issue the London Mail in reference to the Dominion experimental farms: "For some time past the question of agricultural education has occupied much attention in Canada, where the government seems to be fully alive to the great necessity for guiding the farmers of the county into the most profitable grooves of farm practice." Then follows two large columns of extracts from the report which Prof. SAUNDERS prepared on experimental farms, under the direction of Mr. CARLING, Minister of Agriculture. This is only one instance of the many favorable notices which this scheme has received abroad, and from the testimony to be heard in all parts of the country it is safe to say no other undertaking, looking towards the advancement of farming in Canada, has been received with keener appreciation by the class directly affected thereby.
